

CHINESE MEET KEIO TOMORROW

Big Crowd Expected to See Home Team Makes Struggle.

The Chinese baseball team will have an opportunity tomorrow afternoon to break the long string of victories which the Keio have been piling up to their credit.

It will be a game well worth seeing, as both teams will have their strongest possible lineup.

Captain Kanki will put Sugase in the box tomorrow, and he will keep the Chinese guessing for some time.

Sugase has good control over his underhand throws, which are very speedy. He will need to put them over pretty swift when Chi Biu and Akana come to bat.

Fukuda will be at the receiving end, and he is a dandy catcher. The remainder of the team will be as usual.

Apan will do the twirling for the Chinese team, and will need to be on the alert all the time to gather in the Nipponese hunts.

The Keio nine will find itself up against a fast and heady team. It will be the first team with a set of heavy swatters they will buck up against. En Sue will be there again with the big stick.

All the fans are figuring that the Chinese team will be the first bunch to take the Nipponese into camp with them.

The game is to start at 4:30, giving ample time for those who wish to see the game and who can not get off from work earlier.

The majority of the Chinese stores will close at this time to give them an opportunity to see the game.

It will be a great day for the Chinese and Japanese fans. The rooting will no doubt be the best ever.

Everybody is talking baseball now, and the headquarters at the corner of King and Bethel is full of baseball fans every day at noon.

The Chinese team will have the assistance of V. Ayan again this year. He will hold down his usual position at short. Chi Biu, the heavy left-handed batter on the team, will be at the receiving end.

It is rumored that the home team will be supported by a Chinese band during the afternoon.

The lineup of the Celestials in the game tomorrow will be: Chi Biu, c; Apan, p; Ah Toon, b; Ayan, 2b; Kan Yen, 3b; V. Ayan, ss; En Sue, rf; Ah Tin, cf; Hong Chack, lf.

Kelso—Fukuda, c; Sugase, p; Goto, 1b; Kanki (captain), 2b; Kosaka, 3b; Sanaki, ss; Koyama, rf; Takahama, cf; Ishikawa, rf.

Koyama is well known to all Honolulu pitchers for his hitting ability. Every time he comes to bat it is a case of the ball flying out into the field somewhere.

WESTERN COLLEGE TEAM MAY BE INVITED TO JAPAN

CAPTAIN KANKI SPEAKS ON TRIP AND PROSPECTS FOR NINE VISITING JAPAN.

That some Middle Western college baseball team will be invited to Japan next summer as guests of the Keio University is the statement made by some of the Keio baseball players.

It is not definitely known which team will be invited, nor will this matter be decided until the return of Captain Kanki of the Keio team, which is now completing its tour in Honolulu, who will report to the faculty.

Captain Kanki stated yesterday that they were going to invite some big university team which can play ball, a team like Harvard, Yale or Princeton.

In speaking of the prospects of inviting a team to Japan and of baseball in general, as well as his visit to the States, Captain Kanki said:

"Yes, we are to invite one of the big university teams to Japan next summer as guests of Keio University. We want a team that can play good ball.

While on my trip to the States I met a Japanese friend at the University of Michigan and we talked over the matter at length. Michigan has a very good ball team, and I would like very much personally to invite that team next year, but I must report to the faculty first when I get back."

Last year a Harvard man came over to Japan and wanted to know if we wanted to invite the university team, and we said that we thought it would be too expensive, for it was so far East. He told us that if we gave them 10,000 yen they would make the trip, and we agreed to it, but the plan was canceled when they wanted to come over in July. We could not see our way clear to raise the required amount at that time, because all the Japanese students went home for the summer, so we asked if the team could come over in September. The president of Harvard College replied that they would lose one term of study if they went then, so the plan was dropped.

"It is likely now that we will invite some university from the West to come over next summer."

"We have held the championship of Japan for four years now, and during that time have played every college in the country with one exception. We five days out of seven for recreation,

RUNS WERE PLENTIFUL IN OLDEN DAYS

The following clipping will show how baseball has been improved since the old days. The score of this 1867 game shows that the old colleagues certainly knew how to pile up runs. They must have had a grand time in baseball games.

In striking contrast to the Princeton College baseball team's victory over Yale by a 1 to 6 score at Brooklyn three weeks ago is the game which was played at Princeton, N. J., on May 4, 1867.

It was the first time baseball teams representing the Bulldog and Tiger had ever met on the diamond, and Princeton won. It was not by a 1 to 6 score however, or anything near that figure. Exactly 110 runs were scored during the game. The score by innings follows:

Princeton ... 12 1 7 11 8 13 2 5 9 52

Yale 7 3 1 8 7 10 2 5 9 52

In the game three weeks ago Yale made but two hits off White, while Hartwell held Princeton to four. In the contest over 11 years back the score did not record either the hits or errors. H. S. Johnson of the Perry Payne Company, Cleveland, who witnessed the game, says the score did not have time.

FIFTH CAVALRY TO PLAY KEIO

The Fifth Cavalry team is on edge to try and baffle the Keio aggregation. According to arrangements just agreed upon, the two teams will cross bats on the Leilehua diamond Friday. Much excitement permeates the air at Leilehua in regard to the outcome of the event, for if the cavalry should one over on the Keios' way—what a howl would go skyward from the barracks!

FANS TO PAY UMPIRE'S FINE

Umpire William Klein of the National League in St. Louis, who planted Manager Roger Bresnahan of the St. Louis Nationals square on the nose, will not have to dig deep to pay the fine imposed for such an unwarranted act. The business men of Cincinnati have subscribed $50 and wired it to Klein with which to meet his fine.

The Chinese team will probably play the Fifth Cavalry team a return match some time in the near future.

COLLEGE TOSSED FOR BOSTON

Fine ball players are developed on varsity teams, due to the excessive heated rivalry that courses through the veins of the neighboring colleges. Their sole thoughts are meant but to defeat the other.

Few of these men, though, see fit to enter the big leagues on receiving their diplomas. However, the Boston Americans have captured and signed a prize from Princeton, Stephen W. White.

Boston's new lad will pitch for them, reporting to the team immediately by orders of President Taylor of the Bostonians.

The Chinese team will probably play the Fifth Cavalry team a return match some time in the near future.

YALE TO HAVE STADIUM

The decision that Yale is to have a new athletic stadium has been made by the university corporation or trustee board, of which President Tait is a member. The alumni advisory board last month reported that it recommended a stadium and Monday its report was accepted. The board declares that the university as such ought not to shoulder responsibility for the stadium or to undertake details for the construction and other financing of the stadium.

The need for the stadium is declared to be pressing by the alumni advisory board and corporation, and the recommendation has been adopted that a special committee of the advisory board be appointed to take charge of the scheme. This will be done immediately.

KANOHE WON FROM WAIKAHUA NINE

The Kanohe baseball team played a game of ball against the Waikahu team on Sunday, in which the former nine won on its own grounds by the score of 12 to 4.

It was a close contest all the way, and the roosters were on their feet all the time. This made Kanohe's third straight victory over the Waikahu team and the Kanohe boys are now anxious to meet the supposed champion Kaawa team next Sunday at the former's field.
